TERROIR

This particular Chardonnay is sourced from temperature vineyards grown on limestone soils, where this delicate grape variety gives its most brilliant results. Our winemakers team has selected terroirs located on fresh areas, with tempering breezes, enough humidity and strong temperature variation from day to night, enabling slow ripening.

This specific terroir ensures the production of ripe Chardonnay grapes with the perfect level of acidity.

WINEMAKING

HARVEST : The grapes are harvested early in the season, in the fresh morning.

VINIFICATION : Gentle pneumatic pressing preserves the quality of the crop. 40% of the wine is fermented using french staves, at a controlled temperature of 16°C to 18°C. Malolactic fermentation is halted in order to preserve the freshness of the wine.

MATURATION : A part of the wine is then aged for 4 months with regular stirring of the fine lees before bottling.
